NEW RUPES D-A COARSE WOOL POLISHING PAD

The new RUPES D-A Coarse Wool Polishing Pad has been redesigned to deliver improved cutting performance, greater durability, and enhanced user control. The new foam interlayer has been developed to last longer and provide improved resistance during demanding polishing operations. Its reduced height delivers a more direct compounding action, better stability, and greater control, while the switch from polyurethane to polyester foam increases elasticity, heat resistance, and overall durability.

The new white wool has been engineered for longer service life. It resists premature wear, helping the pad remain effective even after multiple polishing cycles and maintains cutting power for longer by reducing the tendency to clog during repeated applications. This allows the pad to deliver more consistent defect removal over time, especially when compared with wool pads that can progressively lose cutting efficiency if they are not regularly cleaned with compressed air. Overall, the new D-A Coarse Wool Pad is a more durable and forgiving solution for demanding polishing operations, designed for users who need strong defect removal, consistent results, and longer pad life.

KEY FEATURES

- New wool surface for improved durability and longer-lasting performance
- Wool fibers designed to resist premature wear after multiple polishing cycles
- Maintains cutting power for longer by reducing clogging during repeated polishing cycles
- New polyester foam interface for greater durability, elasticity, and heat resistance
- Longer-lasting interface compared to the previous version
- Foam interface height reduced by 50% for improved control, stability, and more direct compounding action
- Enhanced cutting efficiency over a longer working cycle
